Compare with the previous permit: See the musical for the previous time permit. Note: Personalized ranges cannot exceed 14 days for synchronous personalized reports and 6 months for personalized damage reports. The documentation on m@ @ tricas contains a table that specifies the most tricious name and the function (sum, avg, min, max) compatible with the trica. You are seeing the documentation of Apigee Edge. View Apigee X Documentation. Select el to see the report. To add a personalized report, access the personalized reports. Max: Returns the maximum response time. For an asynchronous report, execute the request to report and recover the results at a later time. To see the personalized reporting works, select one of the following: Click see status in the report sent as a background work dialog. A synchronous report can have a maximum time range of 14 days. Download the custom report by clicking. Delete a personalized report. Visualization of jobs of custom reports Assenchronous Note: See Custom Report works Assenchronous using only the EDGE user interface. However, because a report could need to process a large amount of data (for example, 100 GB), a synchronous report could fail due to a waiting time. Execute the personalized report by clicking and configuring the time range. Select the graph or table view. For example, you can use the following aggregation functions with the trial response time: AVG: Returns the average response time. Select the role required to access the report and access level (see, edit, delete). You can also configure the type of graph that is shown in the personalized report as a column or grass of the line. To access the custom reports page using the Edge UI: Note: The Classic Edge UI is available with Edge for Private Cloud only. Run a custom report by clicking its name in the list. View anomalies, and compare it to a previous period or to other metrics. Running a custom report Notes: Run asynchronous custom reports using the Edge UI only. Click Add. Apply to run the report synchronously. See Exploring the custom reports dashboard. You can also use the API, as described in Using the asynchronous custom reports API. Adding a custom report By adding custom reports, you can create a set of charts that provide insight into every aspect of your API program. Note: Asynchronous custom report job results are deleted after 7 days. For example, you define a custom report with two metrics: type = Column metric = Average transactions per second metric = Policy Errors dimension = API Proxy The custom report contains a separate chart for each metric: You can add multiple dimensions to a custom report. The file is named as follows: metric.csv. You can add multiple metrics to a custom report. Move the mouse over the name of the report that you want to edit. By default, the report displays data for the previous hour. Edge Analytics lets you run a report synchronously or asynchronously. Click UTC to use Universal Time Coordinated (UTC). To limit who can access the custom report, edit the custom Roles that are defined for the report. You are returned to the custom report results. Note: You cannot download a custom report that is still running. Hover over the link to open the dispersion box. Exploring the custom report dashboard The custom report dashboard displays the results of your custom report for a specific time range, including the column or line chart of the specified metric: The custom report dashboard enables you to: View custom report data for selected time range. For example, you define a custom report with the following settings that includes two metrics and two dimensions: type = Column metric = Average transactions per second metric = Policy errors dimension = API Proxy dimension = Request verb The chart initially shows the metrics grouped by Proxy, the first dimension specified when you created the custom report: You can then use the Proxy dropdown, corresponding to the first dimension, to select an individual proxy. This area is only enabled when you specify multiple dimensions to the report. The following images show chart examples for the transactions per second metric grouped by the API proxy dimension: Column - each API proxy is represented by a different column: Line - each API is represented by a different line: Setting metrics and dimensions The metrics you choose for your custom report specify the data that you are trying to measure. If the report takes longer than 60 seconds to run, it will be converted automatically into an asynchronous report. A dispersion box displays the central tendencies of your data. Note: Asynchronous reports have the following limits: Maximum time range is 6 months. The updated chart now shows the metrics for the selected proxy by request verb: As you add more and more dimensions to the custom report, the UI adjusts to let you drill down into the report by each dimension. Creating custom metrics and dimensions Add the StatisticsCollector policy to your API proxies to collect custom analytics data, such as user or product ID, price, REST action, target version, target URL, and message length.
